INDIA e-NEWS FLASH

June 2007

Dear Members and friends,

We are pleased to send you the first electronic version of our News Flash. Because of the growing interest in India we have moved to a new way of working.

The challenge is to increase our visibility and the contact with our members. Concerning our India News Flash we have decided to change-over towards an exclusively and more frequently e-communication. The e-News Flashes will be distributed to members only.

If you are interested in receiving our future publications, please inform us about any changes of your email address. We want to stress the importance of email addresses and the update of email addresses for future communications.

Thanks.

JET AIRWAYS CEREMONY
Brussels Airport

The Jet Airways ceremony was held in the presence of Mr. Guy Verhofstadt, Prime Minister of Belgium, His Excellency Mr. Dipak Chatterjee, Ambassador of India, Her Excellency Mrs Laurette A. Gauthier Glasgow, Ambassador of Canada and Mr. William Imbrie, Chargé d'Affaires a.i. of the Embassy of the United States of America.

Brussels Airlines, Jet Airways and Brussels Airport signed an historic partnership that will link both Mumbai and Delhi to the Capital of Europe.

As from the 5 August 2007, passengers across the entire Brussels Airlines network will be able to fly direct daily between Brussels and Mumbai thanks to a new codeshare agreement with India's largest domestic carrier Jet Airways. This initial route will be followed by a further connection Delhi-Brussels-Toronto later during the month.

The new codeshare agreement opens up an unprecedented range of destinations to passengers of both airlines as it offers seamless connections with India and North America to and from destinations across the Brussels Airlines network. Plus, the choice of Brussels Airport as European hub ensures maximum transfer convenience for passengers from 4 continents.

Jet Airways has two brand new aircrafts - a Boeing 777 and an Airbus A330 - to service the intercontinental routes. These aircrafts are configured in First, Business and Economy, and Business and Economy respectively. The name Jet Airways is synonymous with an exceptional level of service, quality and punctuality and the airline has won several international awards.

The route Mumbai-Brussels will be opened on Monday the 5th of August.

The first flight from Brussels to Mumbai will take off one day later with following time-table:

Brussels-Mumbai flight number 9W227 departure 11u40 arrival 23u55

Mumbai-Brussels flight number 9W228 departure 02u10 arrival 07u40

All flights are executed with the brand-new Boeing B-777 aircraft, with on board the choice between Economy, Business Premiere and First class. Jet Airways will offer a daily frequency, and some weeks later there will be an extra route to Delhi.

MISCELLANEOUS

Announcement from William C. Weldon, Chairman and C.E.O. Johnson & Johnson concerning Dr. Ajit Shetty

"It is my pleasure to announce the appointment of Dr. Ajit Shetty to the position of Vice President, Worldwide Operations Johnson & Johnson, effective January 1, 2007.

In this capacity, Ajit is named a Corporate Officer reporting to Chris Poon, Vice Chairman, and he will become a member of the Corporate Group Operating Committee. Additionally, he also will continue to serve as Managing Director of Janssen Pharmaceutica NV in Beerse.

Ajit has 30 years of increasingly responsible experience at Johnson & Johnson, most recently as President Global Chemical and Pharmaceutical Operations. Prior to these roles he was President of Janssen Pharmaceutica Inc. U.S.

Throughout his career, Ajit has also been highly regarded as a mentor, having developed and brought forward high-performing talent from a number of locations and businesses."

The BICC&I congratulates Dr. Ajit Shetty with his appointment to the position of Vice President, Worldwide Operations of Johnson & Johnson and wishes him success.

Important impact on the presence of seconded employees from Indian companies

Last year, the Belgian Council of Ministers approved an e-government project relating to social security. The project aims to modernise the Belgian social security system management and the legal framework for monitoring and controlling the employment of foreign nationals (called LIMOSA).

The system, which will enter into force on April 1, 2007, consists in:

- A mandatory declaration for each foreign national seconded to Belgium who is not subject to Belgian social security (comparable with the DIMONA-declaration for employees who are subject to the Belgian social security system)

- An information exchange system between the different Regions (competent for the application for work permits), the Ministry for Middle Classes (for professional cards) and the Ministry of Internal Affairs (for residence permits). The information will become available and exchangeable between the different authorities

In practice, the implementation of LIMOSA will entail that each foreign national who will be assigned to Belgium without being subject to Belgian social security, will need to be registered with the Belgian social security authorities before he/she starts working in Belgium.

The person's name, contract details, place of employment, kind of employment (full- or half-time), the period of assignment and other information will need to be provided.

Exemptions will be created for, amongst others, short term assignees and trainees.

The social security authorities are yet to decide on how the project will be introduced and which information will need to be provided.

New Belgian immigration rules

Last month, the Belgian Council of Ministers has approved a draft bill with respect to the simplification of the rules as to the employment of certain categories of non-EU employees.

Although the Royal Decree that needs to implement these changes is not yet definitive, we can already inform you that the changes will mostly relate to non-EU researchers and managers of Belgian headquarters of Belgian or foreign multi-nationals.

According to the plans, non-EU researchers who are employed within a Belgian university or a recognized research facility to conduct research will no longer need to be in possession of a work permit to work in Belgium. Non-EU managers who are employed by a European head office in Belgium of a Multinational, earning at least 56.187 Euro gross on a yearly basis, would also be exempted from the obligation to be in possession of a work permit. The above mentioned exemptions would be granted for an unlimited period of time. A few new temporary exemptions from being in possession of a work permit are planned to be introduced as well. It concerns:

- An exemption for certain intra-company trainees (for a period of maximum 3 months);
- An exemption for attending scientific congresses (for up to 5 days per calendar month);
- An exemption for meetings in limited circles (for up to 5 days per calendar month);
- An exemption for specialized technicians who come over to assemble/install foreign build machines/installations (for up to 8 days);
- An exemption for specialized technicians who come over to repair foreign build machines/installations (for up to 5 days per calendar month);
- An exemption for test-drivers (for testing prototypes during a period of maximum 4 weeks).

Instead of an application for a work permit, a “certificate of exemption” will need to be requested with the competent immigration authorities for most of these categories before the assignment to Belgium.

The new rules are expected to enter into force by the end of May 2007.

Belgian expats:

Important information for Belgians living abroad has been added to our association's website at www.ufbe.be. This information pertains not only to the upcoming federal elections for the Belgian Parliament which are scheduled for June 10, 2007, but also -and not as widely known yet- to brand new legislation with regards to dual citizenship for Belgian nationals.

The voluntary acquisition of another nationality for a Belgian citizen is now possible, with slight variations in terms of the timeframe in which the law becomes effective depending on the country in which one lives. Details are available on the website.

For Belgian-born citizens who have lost their Belgian nationality when voluntarily acquiring another nationality, our website also provides information and links to Belgian official websites on how to recover their Belgian nationality.
